Rural Businesses are Thriving in Neebing!

The media tour showcased rural business growth and diversity within the Municipality of Neebing. The tour highlighted Thunder Oak Cheese Farm, The Bakeshop on Boundary, Borderlands Farm, and Niibing Tribal Tours. Sumac Hill Creations and School of Indigenous Learning both participated in the event at the Municipal Office. These local businesses offer different cultural amenities, provide recreational opportunities, and improved food security in the rural region. Small rural communities have needs just like larger cities. Finding and filling those needs has put Neebing businesses on the road to success, serving the community and surrounding Municipalities with unique offerings and services including job creation in support of the rural population. Neebing's local businesses support greater economic development which is directly linked to an improved quality of life for its rural residents. The media on the tour was Thunder Bay CBC, TBT Newswatch, Tbnswatch, The Walleye, The Chronicle Journal, EPICA Pictures, and Thunder Bay + Area Food Strategy.

First Recipient of the MFOA's Suzanna Dieleman Award ~ Laura Jones!

At the Municipal Finance Officer Association (MFOA's) conference last week, Neebing's Deputy Clerk-Treasurer, Laura Jones, was awarded the first ever Suzanna Dieleman Award. The Suzanna Dieleman Award was created to honour MFOA's Manager of Policy who lost her courageous battle with cancer earlier this year. The award was presented by her husband, Brent Smith as well as one of her six children – Micheal who assisted in presenting this award.

The Suzanna Dieleman Award criteria reflects the spirit of Suzanna – focusing on giving back to the sector and giving of themselves. Recipients must be an employee of a member municipality with a population of 10k or less. Examples of work honoured under this award include employees/work:

- Moving municipalities forward with progressive ideas such as fiscal sustainability or multi-year budgeting
- Open minded with a focus on continuous improvement
- Highly collaborative and willing to share information, experience or resources

Laura is a model leader. She's a great listener, a lifelong learner, and a sharer. The people at MFOA have gotten to know Laura through her journey to prudent investor, where she took an asset management plan, pulled together a team to turn that into a pragmatic 10-year capital plan and tied that to a ten-year reserve forecast. She shared her story and her spreadsheet model with any who asked – and they asked often. She's quick to credit those who helped her along the way. She is humble enough to know that her way isn't the only way but has the courage to raise her hand and say "I have a way forward." She's shared her work with her fellow colleagues knowing that everyone working together will find a better way.

Congratulations to Laura on this memorable achievement.

Show Me the Money!

Show Me the Money – Capital Planning

Capital planning is the process where one looks into the future and estimates what larger purchases and projects may be required and how one might pay for them. In Neebing, the capital plan provides a forecast over a 10-year timeframe.

Neebing's plan provides an overview of the expected projects (such as road improvements) and large ticket items (such as fire trucks) that may be required, and an estimate of funding required.

After the budget is passed in the spring, the capital planning process begins. The previous plan is looked at by different committees and staff. They also review the Asset Management Plan, Strategic Plan, and other documents and prepare a new list for the next ten years.

Over the summer the Asset Management Committee reviews the individual lists and assembles a draft plan. In the Fall Council reviews the draft plan, makes recommendations, and approves its use as a planning tool.

The plan is used for forecasting the money required to flow into-and-out of Neebing Reserve Savings and is used when preparing the first draft of the next annual budget.

The 2024 to 2033 Capital Plan was approved by Council in September and is available on the budget page of Neebing website <https://www.neebing.org/en/your-local-government/budget-and-financial-statements.aspx>. If you would like a printed copy of these documents, call the office 807 474-5331 and we can print one for you. If you have questions regarding the Capital Plan talk to Laura at the office.

Show Me the Money - December

Almost all of us want to pay as little as possible for property tax. But how are property taxes determined? Budgets are set each year by the Municipality that affect how much property tax residents will pay.

Legislation requires that Municipalities must have a balanced budget. This means that what comes in must match what goes out; and, just like a personal Budget, if the Municipality want to spend more in certain areas, we either must make more (or borrow), spend less in other areas, or do both.

However, Municipalities can also save for future events such as the replacement of a bridge. These savings for the future are called reserves. Determining the amount to contribute towards reserves are an important part of budget decision making, but these amounts are also vulnerable to budget cuts, as decisions that affect current year items tend to be viewed as having a higher priority.

The budget cycle in Neebing begins the previous Fall with the passing of the Capital Plan, and discussions with staff and various committees are held. Budgets are typically reviewed at least four times by Council before being passed, this review begins at the end of January and the final review is completed in May when the budget is passed.

Why is the budget not set earlier? The exact amounts that the Municipality must pay to different organizations and the amount of money coming in can change in the early part of the year, and these changes can affect the Budget. In larger Municipalities these changes have less of an effect on the overall budget.

The Public is welcome to Budget meetings. Council will set the date for the first budget meeting soon, so check the website the Neebing News in early January to find the date.

The Rural Pharmacist: Flu Shot Season is Around the Corner!

by Devon Myers, Reigning Slate River Valley Rural Heritage Days Celebrity Plow Match Champion, and Pharmacist/Owner of Evergreen Pharmacies

Yes, you read that correctly. I will now be writing the monthly entries of the Rural Pharmacist as your reigning plow match champion! Jokes aside, I want to thank Susan McCrury for inviting Evergreen Pharmacies to attend this year's festival as well as all the other staff members for putting on such a fun event. Since I've proven that I've got the chops to hang with the folks in Slate River, maybe we can convince Henry to try his hand with a plow next year!

Now for the real business: flu shot season is just around the corner. We've had patients inquiring about the flu shot since as early as July and I'm happy to finally make available some concrete information for you. At the time of writing this article, the Ontario Ministry of Health had recently released a statement suggesting that flu shots would be available by mid-October this year. Don't hold your breath as history would suggest that this is simply an estimate. However, give-or-take a week and, I think we'll likely see shipments arrive at the pharmacy within the second or third week of October.

Do you want to stay informed and find out exactly when we receive stock? Do you want to book your flu shots online and fill out your screening questionnaire before you even arrive at the pharmacy? The solution is simple: JOIN OUR NEWSLETTER! Our intent is not to overwhelm you with content you don't need. We use our online newsletter to share valuable information that we think our patients would appreciate. For example, the availability of flu shots and COVID-19 vaccines, links to online booking for appointments etcetera.

Joining the newsletter is easy! Simply go to our website, ever-greenrx.ca, and scroll to the bottom of the webpage. When you see "Sign Up For Our Monthly E-Newsletter", enter your email address and hit the sign up button. That's it. If you're having any trouble, give either of our pharmacies a call and staff member will help you out.

Among the vaccines being distributed in Ontario are the Quadrivalent Inactivated Influenzae Vaccine (QIV) and the high-dose Quadrivalent Inactivated Influenzae Vaccine (QIV-HD). Big names, right? Basically, it just means that these inactive (not consisting of live virus) vaccines protect against 4 strains of influenzae virus that we think will be circulating during the flu season this year.

Most individuals 2 years of age and older are eligible for vaccination with the regular quadrivalent vaccine at the pharmacy. In contrast, the high-dose vaccine is reserved for those over the age of 65. The idea is that as we age, our immune system isn't as effective at recognizing the influenzae vaccine. To counter that, a higher dose is given. However, the amount of high dose vaccines that are distributed is limited. We'll do our part to make sure that the right patients get the right dose. And if stock runs out, no problem! It's much more important to get a dose of regular vaccine than to wait for future stock that may take a while show up. Remember, it will take a few weeks after your injection for the vaccine to become effective.

Stay tuned for information about the most recently approved COVID-19 vaccine. Also, we'll be reporting on the newly approved vaccine for respiratory syncytial virus (RSV). But how will you get this information!? Hmm ... signing up for our newsletter is probably a good start! Until next time. Keep your furrow straight!

WOW!

OCTOBER

Although the signs have been obvious for a while - the sun rises to greet me a little later each morning, and our evenings are getting noticeably shorter - the view from my window has remained deceptively 'summery', with green continuing to be the dominant foliage colour well into the later days of September. However, the presence of OCTOBER on the calendar page above my desk, serves as a reminder that Fall is destined to arrive soon in Neebing. October is the month to finish cleaning up any remnants of this summer's garden, to complete any fall plantings, and to pile firewood where it will be readily accessible and dry throughout the winter. As well, it would be wise to make definite plans to store all those things, you don't want to 'disappear' beneath mounds of snow over the winter, under protective cover and in a safe place. October is also a good time to check all your heating appliances (for damaged wires, connectors or components), including wood burning stoves, and ensure that chimneys have been recently cleaned and are in good repair before they are actually needed. Standalone generators should be checked, filled and ready for use, with extra fuel set aside to be used in the event of an extended power outage that would require the generator to run over an unusually lengthy period of time.

October is a busy month for the fire service community as well, with Fire Prevention Week (FPW) slated to be observed from Saturday, October 8th through Sunday October 14th, 2023. FPW was established in 1922, and serves as a focal point each year to remind us all of the importance of being aware of fire safety during all our day-to-day activities.

This year's FPW campaign slogan is, "Cooking safety starts with YOU. Pay attention to fire prevention™, and is dedicated to addressing safe practices around every day cooking activities in our homes. In most homes, cooking is a familiar daily activity, with utensils and appliances now available that have improved greatly over the years in terms of helping to reduce fire threats. However, cooking fires continue to be one of the highest causes of fatal fire starts in the home. While Cooking is the focus of this year's FPW, it is prudent to keep in mind that Smoke Alarms continue to be critically important in ensuring fire safety in the home. They monitor your home environment 24/7, and stand ready to alert you to the presence of any smoke and/or fire in your home. This early warning of fire danger provides critical time to escape before you are overcome by smoke, or trapped in place by fire. Be sure to test your smoke alarms at least monthly to ensure that they are working correctly. Many new smoke alarms have built in batteries designed to last the full 10 year life cycle of your smoke alarms. In units which use regular batteries for operation, be sure to replace the batteries with new ones at least twice a year.

An important consideration for cooking safety for families with small children is to create a "kid-free zone" ('easier said, than done') measuring at least 3 feet (1 metre) in diameter around the stove margins, or around any other areas where hot food or drink is prepared and/or carried. Or if it's like in our house, you may want to consider a dog free zone, especially if you have dogs that like to position themselves strategically in order to retrieve anything that may drop from the stove, counter or serving tray.

While smoke alarm design has been much improved lately, the number of fire fatalities which have occurred in homes in Ontario without a working smoke alarm in place has been on the increase in recent years. I am hoping that all our Neebing residents were able to participate in, and test all their smoke alarms on Thursday, September 28, 2023, which was designated to be Ontario's first "Test Your Smoke Alarm Day". If not, today would be a great day to carry out the testing of the smoke alarms in your home.

Developing and Practicing a Fire Escape Plan with your family is an important tool of home fire safety. It ensures everyone knows what to do and where to go to get to safety if the smoke alarm(s) sound.. Get Out and Stay Out, never go back into the home to try to retrieve anything! Once outside, a family member should call 911 for Fire Service responders. A planned and practiced response to the BEEP of smoke alarms can greatly improve fire safety for your family should you have a fire occurrence in your home. Take a safety minute and watch the short video that follows with your family, and then put together a Fire Escape Plan that fits the realities for your home. <https://youtu.be/4I1nb9VD-mk>

Finally, don't forget that the last day of October is also the last day of 2023 when fire permits will be required for recreational burning. But what's even more fun is that the last day of October is HALLOWEEN. NES will be holding our traditional Trick or Treat Drop-By evening at Neebing Fire Hall 1 (at the intersection of Hwy 608 and 61). There will be treats and fire safety information for little ghosts, goblins and superheroes between 5 and 7:30 pm. Stay Safe

Chix in the Stix
For the Love of Seasons

This is my favourite time of year! And it's a season that gets me right in the feels. I mean the changing seasons at the best of times stirs up all my emotions, but especially fall. The change in temperatures and the change in light can have a profound impact on one's body, mind and soul! Good to be aware of that and to be extra kind to yourself during these times of change. And while I do feel like it is way too soon to be facing another winter when the memory of the previous one is still lingering, I am still looking forward to each and every crispy sunny colourful day in the coming weeks. We really are blessed to live in a country that has 4 distinct seasons. And most days I love them all. But there are of course days when I think of the hard work of winter and it's easy to start day-dreaming about living in a more tropical climate. I've done some research and Costa Rica seems nice! And I'm sure you can come up with some suggestions of your own. They will all have their up-sides, but I also find that most of them have some down-sides too. Usually related to natural disasters, or deadly wildlife, snakes and other venomous critters I can live without. In the end I will take our country, and this province, and this community hands down. And while I know there are other places that are lucky enough to have 'seasons', our four really are the best. In fact I think that one of the reasons that we Canadian folk are generally kind, compassionate, polite and other good things, is partly because we live with 'seasons'. I mean whether we like it or not, from the time we were itty bitty we have been practicing a lot of soft skills without even knowing it. Every year we have experienced longing, patience, anticipation, excitement and joy, followed by resolve, anticipation again, loss and even grief. This whole cycle of the seasons really impacts our lives in ways we probably haven't even considered. I mean growing up our school year alone was driven by the seasons. Summer and end of the school year was always what we longed for. Fall was a bit of sad time because it meant the holidays were coming to an end. Thank heavens we had Thanksgiving and Halloween to take our minds off it a bit. Winter wasn't bad when we were young (not so much as you get older) and of course there were snow days to hope for and Christmas to look forward to. Then there was that sort of long 'dark' period where we had to wallow in what was and just wait it out till there was a change again and next thing you know we could see the bright light of summer in the distance again. I still find it hard to shake the notion that Fall is the real new year and that preparing for a new school year is the real clean slate we all look forward to to motivate us to get organized for winter. I'm not sure what people do who have summer weather all year round. I wonder if I'd get sick of it. Or if I would come to take it for granted. I probably wouldn't appreciate it the way I do now. Where we live we have no choice but to seek out and embrace something even from the seasons that might not be our favourites. We have learned to look for the good in things. I love summer, but am not a fan of the heat, but there are many other things that make summer grand. I am not a huge fan of winter, but I do cherish the cozyness of winter when we hunker down inside. I'm not a big fan of the spring mud, but I do love the possibilities of spring and the signs of rebirth. And fall is the winner for me. The bugs have retreated. The sun may not give us as much warmth, but it's still there. The nights are clear and you can enjoy them earlier. The first whiff of a neighbour's wood stove is almost euphoric. And the foliage is a masterpiece. Keep your eyes open. It goes by so fast. Fall. The seasons. And the seasons of Life. Embrace every moment, every sense, every memory along the way. Don't judge your year, or your life based on one season only. There will always be good ones and better ones behind us and ahead. Every season has a purpose. And when things get tough you can count on there always being a change ahead. I am facing this fall season with immense gratitude that we live somewhere where we get to experience these miraculous changes and the palette of emotions it affords us. With or without pumpkin spice, I am wholeheartedly and sincerely giving thanks this year for every season, every encounter, every experience and relationship, every smell, sight and sound along the way. Happy Autumn and Happy Thanksgiving rural neighbours. Wishing you the best!

Lakehead Region Conservation Authority

submitted by LRCA Staff

The Level I Low Water Condition declared on August 3, 2023, for the LRCA Area of Jurisdiction, remains in effect. This declaration is based on one-month and three-month received precipitation and observed flow conditions in area streams when compared to the lowest average summer flows. Affected residents (households utilizing private wells) are advised to monitor their water levels and usage, as they may experience shortages if the lack of precipitation continues into the fall.

The LRCA's 2024 Explore Card Parking Pass will be available for sale on November 1, 2023! Explore Cards can be purchased by visiting our webstore (www.store.lakeheadca.com), by calling us at (807) 344-5857 or at our Administrative Office at 130 Conservation Road in Thunder Bay. Explore Card Parking Passes permit day-use/parking at our ten Conservation Areas for one calendar year. Visit as often as you like. Enjoy one calendar year of recreation activities! For the low price of $40.00 +HST, it's convenient for frequent users, and a great gift idea. All Explore Card revenue goes directly towards the upkeep and maintenance of our Conservation Areas. 2024 Explore Cards are valid from November 1, 2023 until December 31, 2024.

Attention teachers: the LRCA offers a variety of outdoor environmental education programs, including field trips to a Conservation Area, outdoor programming at your school, and in-class presentations. If you are interested in booking one of our excellent programs, please contact us by emailing education@lakeheadca.com.

Autumn is a wonderful time to explore a Conservation Area. The falls colours are now in full swing, and the weather is cooling off a bit which means less bugs. While visiting a Conservation Area, please note that all pets must be on-leash at all times and picked up after, place garbage in the proper receptacles, and remember that campfires and overnight camping are prohibited.

Now that we are moving into colder days and nights it's time to start making soups. Soups are easy to prepare, inexpensive and with the addition of a sandwich make for an easy supper. In the fall we tend to drink less water so soups can keep you hydrated. They are a good way to use up the garden veggies. A simple chicken soup made by slow cooking chicken, onions, garlic, carrots, celery and some greens like kale or cabbage and herbs, all in a broth or water, produces a soup that's great for a healthy immune system. Soups also freeze well. Here are two easy recipes packed full of vitamins and simple comfort.

IDA'S FRENCH PUMPKIN SOUP by Ida Towell

A. Cook over low heat the following for twenty minutes
3 tbsp. butter
2 lbs. pumpkin peeled and diced
1/4 tsp. mace or nutmeg
Add 1 cup water

B. Add 1 cup milk
Salt and pepper
Cook for ten minutes more then use a hand blender or sieve to create a smooth texture.

C. Then add 1/2 cup light cream
Bring just to a boil and serve hot as is with bread and butter or garnish with croutons
Ida wrote this at the end " my mother used to add little homemade dumplings made from egg and flour cut into very small pieces." Today people often put a dollop of sour cream or a spoonful of plain yogurt into the middle of each bowl.

COUSIN JUDY'S HOMEMADE MUSHROOM SOUP by Shari Pinner

Simmer 20 minutes

1/2 lb. diced fresh mushrooms	1/4 cup onion
2 chicken cubes	2 cups boiling water

In a large pan melt 1/4 cup butter
Add
3 tbsp. flour
1 and 1/2 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. poultry seasoning
Add 3 cups milk stirring constantly till thick and smooth
Bring to boil and add mushroom mixture

This soup could be garnished with a sprinkle of paprika or black pepper or topped with a fresh herb. Some crusty garlic bread on the side would make a tasty addition.
