The next Council meeting will be held on January 17, 2024. There will be a Special Council meeting on January 24, 2024 to review the 2024 budget. Regular Council meetings are normally scheduled for the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

This article contains only highlights from Council meetings – visit the website to see the approved minutes from each of the meetings. The minutes of each meeting are approved at the following meeting and are posted on the website once they have been approved and signed. If you don't have internet capabilities, you can always contact the office for copies of approved minutes.

Meeting agendas are always posted online on the Friday prior to the Wednesday meeting. Come out and see what your Council is doing on your behalf. Feel free to contact the Municipal Office for further information or with input into any of the items that Council is considering. The meetings are now being held at the Municipal Office, but there is the option to attend virtually as well. The links to login to the meetings are posted on our website in the calendar details.

Show Me the Money

It's Municipal Budget time again! Council reviews the annual budget more than once before it is approved. The first review of the 2024 Budget is scheduled for Wednesday January 24th beginning at 6 PM. This meeting can be joined online, or you are welcome to attend in person at the Municipal Office. Online meeting details will be available before the meeting at www.neebing.org or at the office.

The first draft budget for 2024 will include:

- Projected revenue including grants
- Projected operating expenses such as the costs for services
- 2024 Capital Projects such as

Road Work Projects, Blake Hall Arena, and Alf Olsen Memorial Park Rink

Legislation requires that Municipalities must pass a balanced budget and the first budget meeting is to identify and prioritize expenses, with more work done in future meetings to balance revenues and expenses.

Past budgets and Financial Statements can be viewed on the Municipal website. A copy of the first draft budget and the open session report that Council will review on January 24th is available the Monday before the meeting on the Neebing website, or at the office.

Complete a survey about the quality of life within the Municipality of Neebing.

This survey can be done...

- Online through the Neebing website under www.Neebing.org/survey
- OR by paper copy available from the Municipal Office.

This survey highlights areas for improvement within Neebing. These areas can include future projects like upgrading or adding facilities (docks, playgrounds, batting cage, and soccer posts), holding events (fishing derbies, food tour, and farmers markets), and maintenance. The results of the survey will guide planning for future improvements within the Municipality.

Highway 61 Improvements

Construction along Highway 61 between Jarvis Bay Road and Highway 130 is continuing over the winter months. The work includes addressing drainage deficiency, culvert replacement or rehabilitation, guiderail replacement/adjustments, platform widening, shoulder correction, utility relocations, entrance rehabilitation and paving.

Delays and lane closures will be ongoing until the project is complete in 2024. Please be patient and help keep all the workers safe. If you have any questions or comments regarding this project Norm Mackinnon from Civil ArSa Engineering Inc. is the contact the Contract Administrator. His cell number is 1 1-647-627-0037.

Lakehead Region Conservation Authority

submitted by LRCA Staff

Snow surveys conducted on January 2nd indicate that snow depth is approximately 23% of average for the beginning of the year ranging from 6-7.2 centimetres, compared to the average of 30 centimetres. As a result of the lack of precipitation, the LRCA has upgraded the Low Water Condition to a Level II Low Water Condition, based on the previous three months only receiving approximately 57% of the average precipitation. A Level II Low Water condition is declared when received precipitation ranges between 40-60% of average. A Level II Low Water Condition indicates minor supply problems with the potential for major supply problems. Area residents on wells are advised to monitor and adjust their usage accordingly.

Cleaning Closets

Hoping everyone had a wonderful Christmas season! And now here we are already into 2024. I like this number. It feels calm and grounded, as even numbers do. I'm gonna take it as a good sign. I still see the New Year as a big clean slate and envision myself miraculously shedding all my bad habits and accomplishing many amazing things. Which I might. But probably won't. But I will embrace the good intentions until they fade into oblivion once again.

I did some deep cleaning before Christmas. I even cleaned our closets. We have way too many clothes. I purge from time to time, donate etc. Not sure why that matters but makes me feel less guilty somehow. Let's not pick on me right now. Let's pick on my husband. Because seriously he has more clothes than me. Most have seen better days. Now to be fair he works in the trades so lives in work pants and t-shirts. Most of his t-shirts should be in the garbage or rag-bag. The necks are stretched out of shape. Some have holes in them. But he hangs onto them for dear life and the only way to 'purge' his side of the closet is to wait till he's out of town. Even then I guarantee that anything that is put in a bag to go out the door is sorted through again with statements like "Hey this is my favorite shirt!" or "No way, not this one!" or "This one is in perfect shape!" I tried to keep a nice balance of comfy and semi-worn-out work t-shirts and kept one bin with 'shirts I won't be embarrassed to be seen in public with him wearing' - sometimes referred to as 'church shirts'. They are t-shirts of course. Shirts with a collar or buttons are for 'special' occasions - weddings and funerals or when I threaten to leave him if he doesn't walk out of the bedroom wearing something other than a t-shirt.

Heaven knows I'm nobody to be giving fashion advice. Yet I keep TRYING to make him not look like a hobo when he leaves the house. Just for the fun of it this time I did a tally of the items as I cleaned and sorted. So just in case you think your husband has too much stuff, we thought we might be able to provide some perspective. So here it is - 30 pairs of socks. Plus half a pkg of brand new ones. 15 pairs of boxer shorts. 14 t-shirts acceptable for being in public. 46 work t-shirts, 16 pairs of work pants, 9 pairs of dress pants - all the same color. And about 15 shirts with collars. I'm no angel. I have a 'fat' wardrobe and a 'less fat' wardrobe, but again, we'll pick on me another time.

But wait, here is the funny part. Daughter and I went Christmas shopping BEFORE I cleaned the closets. Hubby is impossible to buy for. He has every tool known to man. He has every pair of work gloves. Every hat. Every gadget. You can only have so many Sudoku books and bags of wine gums. So what did we get him - some new t-shirts and new boxer shorts. I kid you not. Thank heavens I didn't get socks. Christmas morning I told him 'don't even unwrap it, just stick it under the bed and we'll open it another time.' I'll probably donate them.

He is good for clothes now for literally the rest of his life and probably longer. And I don't know what this has to do with New Years but I am determined to find a metaphor here so that I can justify outing his clothes hoarding habit. Let's just say that I suspect that if you (and by you I mean ME) take a good deep look at your life I can pretty much guarantee that you have everything you need to make the year ahead a happy, full and prosperous one. And in fact you (ME) have more than enough to share. So maybe that's a good New Year's Intention! Not a resolution, just sort of an overall 'theme' to embrace going into the New Year. Regular genuine daily gratitude for the provisions and blessings we have, and nurturing the desire to pay it forward to those who could use a bit of help - physically and emotionally. A sincere attempt at a spiritual deep cleaning. Open that closet of clothes, gifts and talents you've been saving and let it all pour out. Let's make 2024 the year of honesty, authenticity, simplicity, community and helping others! I don't think we can go wrong with that!

As the month of Christmas festivities comes to an end, I open my blinds to see the remembrance of Christmas through colourful lights on the street. Soon, kids will be back to school, and that spare bedroom family stayed in through the holidays will be empty once again. January is a month to relax after the Christmas holidays and slowly return to the regular routine of things. All routines except that of shoveling this year.

Although the lack of snow thus far has been somewhat of a blessing in disguise, it is important to keep an eye on your pipes as snow provides a natural insulation that is not present this year. Frozen pipes introduce a world of issues that can be somewhat difficult to resolve. The Neebing community in particular relies on wells and septic tanks which can present issues especially in the cold winter months. If freezing does occur, ensure to call a service to have the problem averted as it is essential to have running water for not only comfort but also fire safety in your home.

As we ring in the new year of 2024, lets welcome another year full of fire safety for our Neebing community. It is once again abundantly important to pay close attention to candle safety. Open flame proves time and time again to be the leading cause of house fires. Remember to never light a candle near anything flammable, and to never leave a candle unattended. Sticking to these simple safety measures could very well save you and your loved ones.

As Christmas is now behind us, the safe disposal of your holiday tree can often be overlooked. As your tree begins to dry out, the dried needles and branches introduce a potential fire hazard into your home, especially in being so close to an outlet and wrapped in lights. It is important to keep your tree watered until you are ready to dispose of it and to remove all decorations before disposing in the correct facility. Do not burn your tree in a woodstove or fireplace. Although pretty, keeping your tree once it is past its lifetime creates an unnecessary hazard in your home.

Ice fishing is an increasingly common sport but can be dangerous if not proceeded with caution. With a warm start to this winter, it is important to check ice thickness before walking or driving across any ice. Ice must be at least 4 inches in thickness before it is safe to walk across. Falling through the ice can quickly lead to hypothermia and eventually death. It is also important to know the body of water you are travelling on, and to never go alone.

Although we have been fortunate so far, snow is often seen to block vents on the exterior of your home. It is crucial to ensure all outdoor vents remain unblocked. A blocked vent can lead to carbon monoxide buildup in your home which can be life threatening. After any large snowfall, take a quick walk around your house as a preventative measure, as it could save your life.

Once again, if you suspect any fire or carbon monoxide in your home, exit your house immediately and dial 911.

ers and first responders will be there to assist.

Cheers to 2024!
